Starting with Strong Initial Guesses

Choosing initial guesses that cover common vowels and consonants is essential. Words like “ARISE,” “STARE,” or “CRANE” are popular starting points because they include frequently used letters, providing valuable feedback early in the game.

Using Feedback to Narrow Down Options

Wordle provides color-coded feedback indicating whether letters are correct and in the right position (green), correct but in the wrong position (yellow), or not present in the word (gray). Players use this information to eliminate possibilities and refine subsequent guesses. For example, if the letter “S” is green in the first position, all future guesses should include “S” at that position.

Considering Letter Frequency and Placement
