Contribution Limits and Employer Matching

Understanding contribution limits and employer matching is essential to maximizing the benefits of a Meryl Lynch 401k plan. These factors directly influence the growth potential of retirement savings.

Employee Contribution Limits

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) sets annual contribution limits for 401k plans, including those managed by Meryl Lynch. For 2024, the elective deferral limit is $23,000 for employees under 50 years old, with an additional catch-up contribution allowance of $7,500 for participants aged 50 or older. These limits may be adjusted annually for inflation.

Employer Matching Contributions

Many employers offering a Meryl Lynch 401k plan provide matching contributions as an incentive to encourage employee participation. Matching formulas vary but commonly include:

- Dollar-for-dollar match up to a specific percentage of employee contributions (e.g., 100% match up to 3% of salary).
- Partial matches (e.g., 50% match on contributions up to 6% of salary).

Employer matches effectively increase the total contribution to the participant's retirement account, providing a valuable boost to long-term savings.
